

Professional Development and Continuing Education Requirements

Continuing education is instrumental in providing the highest standard of homeopath care and client safety. Continuing competency emphasizes and supports the importance of increasing knowledge, maintaining skill and professional standards. These requirements demonstrate to the public, the insurance industry and Government that professionalism and competency is sustained.

All registered members with the Alberta Homeopathic Association are required to meet the minimal annual Professional Continuing Education Units. In the pursuit of excellence, professional development requirements maintains credibility and continued professional growth to ensure that the public receives the highest level of care.

The following professional accomplishments qualify for professional continuing education units.

1. Attending Post Graduate Studies.
2. Attending any seminars or online course.
3. Promoting public awareness through seminars for the public, medical professionals or homeopathic students.
4. Producing educational materials.
5. Attending or leading a study group.
6. Volunteering with the AHA and attending meetings.
7. Being involved with homeopathic research, publishing, lecturing, teaching or mentoring.
8. Conducting or volunteering in a homeopathic Proving.
9. Publish or produce homeopathic literature.

Professional Continuing Education Units (PCEU) are calculated on annual basis. A minimum of 15 PECUs are required to maintain professional membership for the period of January 1 to December 31 of any given year. If PECUs exceed the annual requirement, a maximum of 10 PECUs may be carried forward into the following year.
